

REFERENCES

1. De Ruvo A, Farnstrand P-A, Hagen N. Upgrading of pulp from corrugated containers by oxygen delignification. TAPPI J 1986; 69: 100-103.
2. Jackson M, Croon IL, Nardi F. Bleached fiber from OCC. TAPPI J. 1994; 77: 153-159.
3. Nardi F. Naco process in waste paper recycling. Asia Pacific Papermaker 1994; 3: 42.
4. Nardi F. Naco process offers potential in recycling of low-grade wastepaper. Eur. Papermaker 1994; 2; 30-31.
5. Markham LD, Courchene CE. Oxygen bleaching of secondary fibre grades. TAPPI J. 1988; 71: 168-174.
6. Dionne PY, Hoyos, M. Upgrading recycled board into value-added product with hydrogen peroxide bleaching. Paper Technol. 1995; 36: 72-76.
7. Zanuttini, M, McDonough T. Upgrading of OCC pulp by medium-consistency ozone treatment. In: 35th Ann. Pulp and Paper Congress & Exhibition, San Paulo, 2002: 1-8.
8. Haywood ST. Acid activation, ECF stages provide gentle bleaching sequence for OCC. Pulp & Paper 1995; 69: 87-93.
9. Wandelt P. Studies on the processing of waste paper to a bleached pulp. Improved methods for enhanced oxygen delignification (in Polish). Przegląd Papierniczy 2001; 57; 317-324.
10. Van Tran A. Recycled old corrugated containers as a partial substitute for virgin hardwood kraft pulp. APPITA J. 2002; 55: 312-316.
11. DeFoe RJ. Optimal refining conditions for development of OCC pulp properties. TAPPI J. 1993; 76: 157-161.
12. Nguyen XT, Shariff A, Earl PF, Eamer RJ. Bleached pulps for printing and printing papers from old corrugated containers. Prog. Pap. Recycling. 1993; 2: 25-32.
13. Bisner HM, Campbell R, McKean WT. Bleached kraft pulp from OCC. Prog. Pap. Recycling 1993; 2: 27-35.
14. Wandelt P. Studies on the processing of waste paper to a bleached pulp. Comparative evaluation of selected methods of delignification (in Polish). Przegląd Papierniczy 1999; 55: 97-101.
15. Danielewicz D, Surma-Ślusarska B. Pulping and bleaching OCC. Part I: Delignification. APPITA J. 2011; 64: 62-65.
16. Danielewicz D, Surma-Ślusarska B. Pulping and bleaching OCC. Part II: Oxygen delignification and bleaching. APPITA J. 2011; 64: 66-70.
17. Danielewicz D, Surma-Ślusarska B. Pulping and bleaching OCC. Part III: Printed OCC. APPITA J. 2013; 66: 145-150.
18. Danielewicz D, Surma-Ślusarska B. Pulping and bleaching OCC. Part IV: Printed and surface treated OCC. APPITA J. 2013; 66: 151-154.
19. Beélik A, Conca RJ, Hamilton JK, Partlow EV. Selective extraction of hemicelluloses from softwoods. TAPPI J. 1967; 50: 78-81.
20. Danielewicz D, Surma-Ślusarska B. Application of computer image analysis for characterization of various papermaking pulps. Cellulose Chemistry and Technology 2010; 44: 285-291.
21. Karlsson H, Fransson P-I, Mohlin U-B. STFI-FiberMaster. In: 6th Int. Conf. on New Available Technologies. Stockholm, Sweden, 1-4.06.1999, p. 367.
22. Tiikaja E. Fibre dimensions: their effect on paper properties and requires measuring accuracy. Pulp & Paper Canada 1999; 100: 386-388.
23. Guo S, Zhan H, Zhang Ch, Fu S, Heijnesson-Hulten A, Basta J, Greschik T. Pulp and fiber characterization of wheat straw and eucalyptus pulps – a comparison. Bioresources 2009; 4: 1006 -1116.

24. Page DH. A theory for the tensile strength of paper. TAPPI J. 1969; 52: 674-681.
25. I'anson SJ, Karademir A, Sampson WW. Specific contact area and the tensile strength of paper. APPITA J. 2006; 59: 297-302.
26. Batchelor W, Kibblewhite RP, He J. A new method for measuring RBA applied to the Page equation for the tensile strength of paper. APPITA J. 2008; 61: 302-306.
27. Seth RS. Zero-span tensile strength of papermaking fibres. Paperi ja Puu. 2001; 83: 597-604.
28. Surma-Ślusarska B, Mróz W. The quality of pulp in the manufacture of absorbent materials and criteria for their evaluation (in Polish). Przegląd Papierniczy 1995; 51: 607-611.
29. Surma-Ślusarska B, Mróz W. Influence of raw material and the manufacturing method of high-yield pulps on their absorbent properties (in Polish). Przegląd Papierniczy 1996; 52: 22-26.