

References

1. Seligra PG, ina Jaramillo CM, Famá L and Goyanes S Biodegradable and non-retrogradable eco-films based on starch–glycerol with citric acid as crosslinking agent. Carbohydrate Polymers 2016; 138: 66–74.
2. Adak S and Banerjee R. A green approach for starch modification: Esterification by lipase and novel imidazolium surfactant. Carbohydrate Polymers 2016; 150: 359–368.
3. Kaur B, Ariffin F, Bhat R, A and Karim AA. Progress in starch modification in the last decade. Food Hydrocolloids 2012; 26: 398-404.
4. Kapuśniak J and Siemion P. Thermal reactions of starch with long-chain unsaturated fatty acids. Part 2. Linoleic acid. J. Food Eng., 2007; 78(2): 323-332.
5. Rajan A, Prasad VS and Abraham TE. Enzymatic esterification of starch using recovered coconut oil. International Journal of Biological Macromolecules 2006; 39(4–5): 265–272.
6. Junistia L, Sugih AK, Manurung R, Picchioni F, Janssen LPBM and Heeres HJ. Experimental and Modeling Studies on the Synthesis and Properties of Higher Fatty Esters of Corn. Starch Starch/Stärke 2009; 61: 69–80
7. Rajan A and Abraham TE. Enzymatic modification of cassava starch by bacterial lipase. Bioprocess and Biosystems Engineering 2006; 29: 65–71.
8. Udomrati S and Gohtani S. Enzymatic esterification of tapioca maltodextrin fatty acid ester. Carbohydrate Polymers 2014;99: 379– 384
9. Antczak T, Patura J, Szczęśna-Antczak M, Hiler D, Bielecki S. Sugar ester synthesis by a mycelium-bound Mucor circinelloides lipase in a micro-reactor equipped with water activity sensor. Journal of Molecular Catalysis B: Enzymatic 2004; 29: 155–161.
10. Simon LM, Laszlo K, Vertesi A, Bagi K and Szajani B. Stability of hydrolytic enzymes in water-organic solvent systems. Journal of Molecular Catalysis 1998; B: Enzymatic 4, 41–45.
11. Liu QB, Janssen MHA, van Rantwijk F and Sheldon RA. Room-temperature ionic liquids that dissolve carbohydrates in high concentrations. Green Chemistry 2005; 7: 39–42.
12. Ciechańska D, Kapuśniak J, Żakowska and Kaszuba L. Od przemysłu zbożowo-młynarskiego do biopolimerowych produktów technicznych nowej generacji. Fibres and Textiles in Eastern Europe 2016; 24, 6(120):.....
13. Zarski A, Ptak S, Siemion P, Kapuśniak J, Esterification of potato starch by a biocatalysed reaction in an ionic liquid. Carbohydrate Polymers 2016; 137: 657–663
14. Li W, Dobraszczyk BJ, Dias A, GilAM. Polymer conformation structure of wheat proteins and gluten subfractions revealed by ATR-FTIR. Cereal Chemistry, 2006; 83(4): 407–410.
15. Mathew S, Abraham T E. Physico-chemical characterization of starch ferulates of different degrees of substitution. Food Chemistry 2007; 105: 579–589.